BARNFIELD'S ᶜAFFECTIONATE SHEPHERD'

'The Ajjeclwnate Shcffard, by Richard Barnfield, containing the very passionate complaints of Daphms the shepherd for the boy Ganymede, that he would fcrsake Queen Gwendolen to be his love, and followed by 'The Shepherd's Content/ or the happiness of a harmless life, written upon occasion of the former subject, which endeth

> Thus have I showed, in my country "vein,
> The sweet content that shepheids still enjoy,
> The mickle pleasure and the little pain,
> That ever doth await the shepherd's boy
> His heart is never troubled with annoy ,
> He is a king for he commands his sheep ,
> He knows no woe, for he doth seldom weep
>
> He is a courtier, for he courts his love ,
> He is a scholar, for he sings sweet ditties,
> He ib a soldier, for he wounds doth prove,
> He is the fame of towns, the shame of cities,
> He scorns false fortune, but true virtue pities,
> He is a gentleman, because his nature
> Is kind and affable to every creature
>
> Who would not then a simple shepherd be,
> Rather than be a mighty monarch made ?
